CIRCUIT COURT began at Danville yesterday with an unusual light docket, the principal case to be tried being that of the Commonwealth vs. Isaac Shelby, Jr., for the killing of Linenfelt, provided an indictment is found.

A TRAMP attempted to board the first section of freight train 34 at Woodbine Friday night, but missed his footing and fell between the cars. Six or eight passed over his body which literally cut him to pieces. There were no letters on his person and it is not known who he was.

WE have received from William Reid, of Manchester, a statement of the circumstances of the killing of Daniel K. Garrard, which do not differ materially from the one we published. Mr. Reid adds that parties are hunting for the negro and he cannot evade arrest long. If he resists he will be shot down.

CALL and see our new wrought steel range. Higgins & McKinney.

WHAT Stanford needs badly are electric lights, water works and an ice factory.

MRS. J. H. STEPHENS will open up a new line of millinery goods at Crab Orchard the 1st of March.

THE K. C. lost its depot at Rankin by fire Friday night and J. T. Quisenberry his store valued at $2,500.

I AM now receiving my spring goods, which I invite the public to call and see. My line surpasses all previous ones I have carried. H. C. Rupley.

THE first train from Knoxville passed through the Cumberland Tunnel Friday and in consequence of the opening of which real estate at Middlesboro has become quite active.

BANK STOCK.—An administrator of Thomas M. Ball, decd., I will sell at public auction on Monday, March 3, county court day, 16 shares Lincoln National Bank stock. Thomas C. Ball.

A POST-OFFICE inspector was here the other day. He complimented Mrs. Courie on the arrangement of the office and said there could not possibly be any objection to the millinery attachment.

A NEGRO man was shot in the fleshy part of the arm on the train yesterday by John Burton, of Lebanon, who was carelessly handling a pistol. The negro is not much hurt, but Burton deserves to be punished for having a pistol at all.

SOLD OUT.—Mr. J. P. Jones has sold out his interest in the store of Jones Bros. to Joe S. Jones, who will proceed to close out the grocery part of the stock, before moving into the establishment to be vacated by S. L. Powers & Co., March 1st.

A REAL ESTATE agency has been established at Harrodsburg, Tenn., by Messrs. J. T. Cobb, of Richmond, and J. P. Crow, of this county. The firm is a strong one and we take pleasure in recommending it highly to the public. Harrodsburg is at the junction of the E. T. V. & G. with the C. S., and has a big future.

ACCORDING to the law each person who proposes to apply for liquor license must put notices of his intention ten days before county court at four public places in his neighborhood and one at the courthouse. The judge shall then, unless a majority of those directly interested object, issue the license, but he cannot do so on any other than a regular county court day. The earliest time that saloons can open then is March 3d, provided the terms of the law are complied with.

SKULL CRUSHED.—Ike Logan and another negro named Grant had a little "set to" in Middlesboro Saturday night and for awhile it looked like they were evenly matched. Lige Merit, a relative of Grant, appeared on the scene, though, and with a heavy cane struck Logan on the head, inflicting an ugly flesh wound and breaking his skull. Logan fell unconscious and remained so till late Sunday afternoon and is now in a critical condition. Merit was arrested and is now in jail.

A MAN named Young, of the Highland vicinity, came to town Friday and on his way here heard of the small-pox scare near town. He was considerably frightened lest he should come in contact with the dread disease, but summoned the courage to come anyway. Turning the corner of Main and Somerset streets he spied the weather flags and taking them for a sign of the small-pox, he retraced his steps and pulled for home at a 240 gait. A neighbor of his informed us that he was scared nearly out of his wits and is still using precautions to make assurance doubly sure.

THE young fellow, C. L. Peyton, who swindled the Middlesboro and Knoxville banks out of $13,000, has been captured at Plymouth, N. C. There was a $1,000 reward for him. While in Knoxville recently we were introduced to the slick citizen by Masteron Peyton. He was in the latter's office for the purpose of consulting Mr. Peyton with reference to the title of some Knoxville lots that had been priced to him at $500 a foot. He was a handsome, beardless boy and had nothing of the rascal in his appearance. Mr. Peyton said that he was some of his Texas kin, but we opine that he is not particular now about tracing up the relationship. Are you, Master?

A copy of the Kentucky Tribune, published at Danville by Mr. James K. Marrs, bearing date of June 12th, 1863, has been handed us. It is well printed and compares favorably with the best typography of this later day. The paper is full of war news and among other items is a reference to a letter from Lt. Col. John Cowan, commanding the 19th Kentucky, then in rear of Vicksburg, to his brother, Dr. George Cowan, telling him of a wound in the foot that he received by striking it against a bayonet lying in the grass, at the close of the second day's fight. On the 4th day of the siege seven men were killed including Maj. Evans, of Garrard, and 56 of the regiment wounded. There are several advertisements calling for 16-months men to be raised in defense of the State, and one which offers $50 for a runaway negro. The latter is signed by W. L. Reid.

OUR first mess of turnip greens came from our friend, O. J. Crow, who will please accept the thanks of a grateful stomach.

THE greatest surprise comes from Waynesburg. We thought that the people there were so wedded to prohibition that they would never permit the anti to carry it.

C. R. R.—Col. J. C. Rodemer and Capt. W. H. Spradlin are here looking after the interests of the Cumberland Railroad. The colonel says everything is in shipshape on his end and that the prospects are flattering for work to commence at an early day.

ISOM HANSFORD was arrested and lodged in jail Saturday night charged with attempted rape on Bill Baughman's wife, but when the case was called yesterday, the woman said that he was drunk and only attempted to put his arm around her, so Judge Carson discharged the prisoner.

JOHN W. CORLEY, the well-known drummer, has sued the L. & N. in two cases, one for $500 and the other for $1,000, because of the failure of the agent to check his trunks that were placed on the Lebanon platform. The latter's excuse for not doing so was that they were not in the proper place.

FISHER, the 14-year-old son of Mrs. Paulina Hays, whom she was preparing to send to the Masonic Home, at Louisville, has disappeared and she is greatly alarmed about him. He was very much opposed to going to the Home and said he would run away first. Mrs. Hays thinks he has gone to Middlesboro and asks if any of her friends should see him that they will communicate with her at once.

THE operation known as trepanning was performed on Mr. Bryant Clarke, as proposed, by Dr. Peyton, assisted by Drs. Carpenter, Frye, McRoberts and Clarke. On removing the skull they found a cyst had formed under the membrane of the brain and two bones were growing into the brain. They removed the latter and placed a drainage tube from the former. The patient soon rallied and has since been doing first-rate.

ANOTHER negro got in his work at London Saturday night and altho' he claims that the shot was accidental, he is deserving of almost as condign punishment. He was drunk and shooting his pistol on the street promiscuously when a shot entered the abdomen of Charley Shiveley, the well-known drummer for Julius Lockhardt & Co., Louisville, and produced a wound which is said to be fatal. The negro was arrested. Shiveley is from Campbellsville, where he is well connected.

THE city council sometime ago adopted an amendment to the charter increasing the liquor license to not less than $500 nor more than $1,000. Our representative will be asked to authorize them to do so by legislative enactment and we trust he will procure the passage of the amendment. The people have voted to restore the license system and place the traffic again in saloons instead of drug stores and blind-tigers and those who profit by it should be made to pay for it. Give us a high, well-guarded license law and if it does not prove more satisfactory than the present law we will acknowledge our error and make due penance.

THE ELECTION is over and the prohibition law is defeated by 50 majority or more greater than that by which it was adopted. The table below gives the vote by precincts, which will show the way the wind blew:

ELECTION ECHOES.

The vote it is observed is exceedingly light.

We proved a worse prophet than Green Clay Smith.

There was some drunkenness but the day passed without an arrest or a fight.

Ex-Editor M. D. Hughes was an interested spectator. He is a firm believer in free trade and sailors' rights.

It is said that that rallying song at the courthouse was a big factor in the defeat of prohibition. It was very bad indeed.

A change of 204 for prohibition to 250 against in three years is equal to 500 gain for the anti and shows a remarkable revulsion of opinion.

We are indebted to S. A. Middleton, Crab Orchard, Wm. Bullock, Kingsville, Hon. E. S. Gooch and others for prompt reports from their precincts.

The preachers got knocked out again, for the second time in the last few months. They will learn, perhaps, after a while, that the pulpit and not the rostrum is their proper sphere.

Although the people have voted to repeal the prohibition law, the verdict does not become effective till Wednesday after the judge, sheriff and clerk shall have counted the vote and certified the result.

does not make it the proper mode of warfare or the most manly, even if it were fair.

Had not the prohibitionists made their bitter fight over the last August election we believe that the result would have been otherwise. They made a great mistake and have been twice punished for it.

The most reliable information from Waynesburg is that it went 10 for repeal. Ezra Gooch sent us a message at 1:30 Saturday that it was 17 against at that hour.

We asked a Highland man yesterday who voted for prohibition before, why there was such a great change in his precinct. He replied: "The people had gotten tired of the failure of the present law and were anxious to repeal it."

The prohibitionists formed in line and marched through the principal streets of Crab Orchard Saturday, headed by a brass band and a standard bearer, "Vote for prohibition" was the inscription, but the majority of 73 on the opposing side shows that a great many voters did not do as they were ordered.

In order that our readers may be able to compare the vote of Saturday with that of September 1886, we give the table below, which shows how each precinct voted when the prohibition law was adopted:

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

County court and circuit court both convene to-day.

Another girl made its appearance at Mr. J. H. Otter's Saturday evening, which makes his family 6 in number—3 boys and 3 girls.

A. E. Gibbons and bride have returned from their bridal trip and have taken rooms at the Perkins House.

The celebration of the 23d will be held on Friday night, 21st, at the Second Presbyterian church. There are some good speakers on the programme, excellent music will be had, lots of pretty girls will be there and a good time all around is in store for those who attend.

Some of our citizens have bought some shares of stock in the company that has organized to boom the town of Barbourville in Knox county. We see no good reason why that place is not suited for a boom, as it has everything and more, too, than its neighboring towns, Pineville and Middlesboro. The location and the water power cannot be excelled. All the place has needed all the time was somebody with energy and capital.

Some believe that la grippe is contagious and the following will bear them out in it: A young lady here received a letter from a friend who resides in Chicago and in the letter she said she was just recovering from a spell of grip and went on to tell her how she was at first affected and how she knew she had it. Said she was taking by a spell of sneezing and the young lady who was reading the letter began to sneeze and at once had a severe spell of La Grippe.

A Lexington dispatch states that Edward T. Foster, a well-known young attorney of that city, has quit the law and will engage in raising fine chickens. He has just bought for that purpose for $4,400 the old Schville homestead, containing 8 acres, lying near that city. This will be the first exclusive poultry-raising establishment ever conducted in the Blue-grass.
